NOAESE Plumbing student

Noaese has completed the Level 3 plumbing programme, and will be doing an apprenticeship in 2018.

After finding it difficult at the start, Noaese (Samoan/Tokeauan) came to really enjoy the plumbing programme, and learnt a lot. "I've picked up a range of skills this year, including welding, pipe outs, and installing drains."

"I didn't know what I wanted to do at the start of the programme, but now I do. I want to work towards becoming a fully qualified plumber."

Noaese's mentor praises him for the progress he has made. "He's found his feet and has set himself goals for the future."

Through the scholarship all my fees are covered, I've gained a drivers licence, and received plenty of support

JASMINE Hairdressing apprentice

Jasmine loves working at Colours Hair Design in Plimmerton as a hairdressing apprentice, but hairdressing wasn't always her first choice.

"I didn't know exactly what I wanted to do so I thought I'd give hairdressing a go and see how I liked it," says Jasmine.

"The best part is the creative side of hairdressing."

Through the Māori and Pasifika Trades Training initiative, Jasmine (Ngāti Raukawa) was able to gain an apprenticeship.

"The Māori student mentors would come into class to see how we were going, to catch up and help with things like finding models to practice our work on."

It reduced my fees significantly which makes a big difference, especially being a student

CAELYM

Mechanical engineering apprentice

“It’s great if I want to get my own business and do my own thing one day

Caelym works as an apprentice at a mechanical engineering firm in Petone, carrying on a family tradition.

“It’s what my old man does so I knew a bit about it, and now I’m building on the things he taught me.”

Through the Māori and Pasifika Trades Training Scholarship, Caelym (Ngāti Kahungunu) learned welding and fabrication skills. “We got to work on things too. I made an outdoor oil heater, a seat and a toolbox.”

“Now I work at a general engineering shop so we do anything and everything. We roll stainless tube, we do road signs, aluminium, stainless tube forming, machining, drilling, welding.”

MARCUS Road transport graduate

Marcus is keen to get behind the wheel after finishing the six-month road transport programme.

"I've started relief driving for Mainfreight and am looking to go full-time with PCL, a civil construction company, cutting dirt and asphalt," says Marcus.

"I'd been scaffolding for about 10 years, but injured my back. I'd seen one of my mates do this programme and he came out with all the licences you need."

I think of my new career path as a lot of fun, not just a job

Marcus (Ngāti Toa) says the tutors help you find work. "Our tutor also trains people from companies to get their licences so he's got lots of contacts."

SUPPORT BRINGS SUCCESS

Important to the Māori and Pasifika Trades Training Scholarships is the support you will receive. Our mentors are here to help.

Jess and David catch up to discuss plans and options

“ EVERYONE IS FRIENDLY. IT'S LIKE BEING WITH MATES.

Our mentors have an open door policy. They are keen to ensure you have a safe and rewarding time completing your studies. We can help you to get to grips with our environment.

David Lomax is Team Leader of our Tamaiti Whangai support crew. David regularly checks in with students. A priority of his role is to be available and he enjoys catching up with students to see how things are going.

Jess has just completed a plumbing programme. She found people welcoming. The mentor team helped Jess get her full driver's licence. She's now getting encouragement with job interviews.

WelTec and Whitireia have mentors working across multiple sites and with students from different subject areas. We're here to help you succeed.
